Klein Garage Specializes In Realignment Repairs

Any car with front wheels out of alignment wears tires much faster than most of us realize. It is even more astonishing when you consider how little it costs to have the front-end adjusted so the wheels are in perfect alignment, much less than replacing tires.

Regular inspections made by such firms as Matt Klein's specialized garage on Newgarden st. will save many miles of tire wear and dollars and for any motorist to think the alignment of his car is correct unless it has been given attention within the past year is certainly a wild gamble.

Klein makes these inspections free of charge.

Hine Motor Co. Repairs All Makes of Automobiles

It's not idle talk to say cars on the road now need much more attention.

All are three years old and most of them five or even more. Any piece of machinery that has been used that long is sure to need many replacements of wearing parts to be like new.

It's watching for these hidden overly worn parts that will, if replaced, keep the machinery in near new condition. It's such service modern garages such as the H. I. Hine Motor Co. are specializing in, locating the trouble before real damage is done.

STYLED FOR A DOUBLE LIFE

BY ESPIE KINARD

NEW YORK—Biggest fashion hits at the nation's winter resorts—proving ground for next summer's successes—are those double-duty duds which give a girl more wardrobe for her money.

When these appear in amusing prints—hop-scotch plaids, love knots strung on necklace-like stripes, a map of the island of Nantucket, or whaling vessels seen through a telescope—a girl can also figure on getting her money's worth of fun.

Starred in double roles and in print are sun dresses that take on jackets and become city slicker suits and blouse top dresses that yield their better halves to snappy suits.

Proof of this versatility are the two styles shown. Presented in its two fashion roles is the turnabout sun dress, right, which bares its back to the sun and then goes under cover as a city suit. It combines black and aquamarine shantung printed in a stripe and love-knot motif.

At left are front and back views of the casual twopiece dress which gives up its upper half—a hop-scotch plaided pink and black gingham overblouse—to accommodate a city-going suit. Shown here with a black rayon skirt, the blouse's bow-tied back can be untied and wrapped around the waist for smoother fit under a suit jacket.

Cool, Methodical Salem Defeats South, 42-31, Advances Into Regional Against Akron North

All-Around Steady Performances Mark Victory Over Youngstown's Co-Champ

A cool and methodical Salem High school basketball team—neither particularly hot nor cold—made local cage history Saturday night by defeating Youngstown South easily, 42-31, at Youngstown South's own field house before approximately 4,000 fans, to advance into the regional tournament at South Friday and Saturday.

The historical angle is this: The 1946 Quakers are now the third team in the history of the school to be among the 16 final teams in the Ohio Class A tournament. Teams from Salem equalled the feat in 1937 and 1926.

The victory for Coach Bob Miller's charges was the 10th in a row, their fourth in tourney play, and marked them as co-champions of the sectional and district tournaments with Coach Dwight Lafferty's Warren Presidents, who defeated Canton Lincoln easily, 57-28, in the other final Saturday.

MASSILLON CAGERS NIP FROSH STREAK IN TOURNAMENT CLASH

Salem Quintet Also Bows In Consolation Tilt; Ed Bozich Stars

The 16-game winning streak built up by the Salem High freshmen came to an abrupt end Saturday in the last rounds of play in the annual junior high school tourney at Massillon.

The locals were handed a double defeat, one by Massillon Lorin Andrews "A" in the semi-final round, 40-36, and the other by the Canton McKinley yearlings in the consolation battle, 30-28.

An unusual inaccuracy at the foul stripe cost Salem its chances for victory against the Massillon aggregation as the junior Quakers missed 16 of 22 attempts in bowing by four points.

The Tigers took an early lead as Villoria, who collected 15 points to pace his team began his spree at the outset of the tilt. The frame ended 13-11 with Massillon leading. Salem fought back hard in the second frame but the Andrews cagers added another two points to their advantage to lead by 24-21 at halftime.

Final Spurt Falls Short

After being outdistanced once more in the third quarter, the Quakers turned on the heat in the finale but Massillon's eight point edge was too much to overhaul.

Eddie Bozich and "Biggie" Faulkner, with 11 and 10 markers respectively, were the hubs of the Salem attack.

Bozich also sparked the locals in the consolation tilt, which ended in the locals' second defeat of the year, finding the rims for 14 points, exactly one half of the Salem effort. Rex set the pace for the Bulldogs with 12.

Despite the double setback, the Quakers' mark of 16 wins and a pair of defeats stands as one of the best ever compiled by a Salem frosh squad.

CAPTAIN EASY

THE GUMPS

Salem now advances into the regional semi-finals against Akron North's Vikings at 9:15 p. m. Friday, while Warren will meet Cleveland's Lakewood at 8 p. m. Friday.

The victory Saturday was not particularly difficult for the Quakers, who commanded the show from the start and led all the way, except for a brief 2-2 tie with three minutes of the first period gone.

South's vaunted "pressing" defense had no effect at all, largely because Tony Martinelli, steady and dependable guard broke it up by advancing the ball through the defensive men with some intricate and well executed dribbling.

Martinelli's show was supplanted by the stellar play of Capt. "Mo" Hollinger, who aided his advances by rushing down the floor, assuming his position at forward and then rushing at back out to take passes from Martinelli as he crossed the mid-court marker.

Bob Payer, Salem tower of strength, dumped through 13 points Saturday, but his most important work was in literally absorbing the ball every time it hit the backboards. His height and ruggedness were too much for South.

Indicative of his play is the fact that Charles "Slick" Kay, supposedly one of Youngstown's best, could do little more than foul during the evening. He left the game early in the third, after spending a good portion of the second frame on the bench because of four personals.

Martinelli put Salem into the lead, 2-0, with a pretty set shot two minutes gone by. South's Tony Marcovecchio, who scored all eight of the Youngstown points in the first period and none afterwards, tied the score with a similar shot from mid-court.

Payer's rebound seconds later made it 4-2 and from then on Salem was never headed, nor seriously endangered. By the close of the period the Quakers were leading, 11-8.

Johnny Pridon, Hollinger, Payer, Martinelli and Lowell Myers advanced the scoring in the second period, each getting a bucket with Pridon and Martinelli scoring the free throw line.

South was ineffective again in the second, despite the fact that Al Beach, South tutor, was frantically substituting, switching tactics and attempting everything to force a change in the tempo. It was 24-16 at halftime.

Salem pulled into a commanding 29-16 lead before South could tally in the third period and it was 31-16 when the period ended.

In the fourth, the Quakers faltered momentarily as South's Stevens and Don Goodall collaborated in a hot streak.

The two tallied 12 points on six field goals, but only came within five points of Salem, 36-31, with slightly more than three minutes of the game left. Payer ended the threat by caging a rebound for two points. He added another to make it 40-31 and Martinelli added two fouls to make Salem's total.

Myers' scrap was one of Salem's strongest points Saturday. Determined to control the ball, the six two senior led was on the floor consistently after tying up South men and many times made away with the ball neatly or smashed South shots.

Hollinger was a steady and effective rebounder, getting up above them all most of the time.

Jimmie Laughlin, who entered the game mid-way in the third for Hollinger, equalled Myers' scrap and bolstered the belief that Salem's reserve power is not minutes of the first period gone.

In all 14 fouls were called against Salem and 23 against South. Two South men, Kay and Goodall left the game on personals.

The Quakers were improved on shooting, hitting 16 of 47 floor attempts for a 34 per cent average. South hit 14 of 51—six of them in the final—for a 27 per cent mark.

On fouls both teams were poor. Salem clicked on 10 of 28 attempts, South making only three in 16 attempts.

It was the fifth loss in 18 games for South. Salem has won 14 and lost eight. It snapped a nine-game winning streak for the Youngstown club.

CLIPPERS, LOWELLVILLE, AMHERST BOW OUT OF CLASS B TOURNAMENT AT KENT IN SATURDAY CONTESTS

Coach John Cabas and his Columbian Clippers bowed out of the state Class B picture Saturday afternoon at Kent State university before a potent and rangy North Canton quintet, 45-31, after giving the Stark county lads all they could take for three thrilling quarters.

In the other finals at Kent, Waynesburg defeated Lowellville, 31-30, and Akron Ellet triumphed over Amherst, 37-35, in a third thriller. All winners advance to the Youngstown regional March 14 and 16.

The Clippers faltered only in the final canto, when Big Earl Hall, Jr., who has scored more than 400 points this year, broke loose for half of his 24-point total.

Up until the final Columbian was far from out of the race, although they actually held the lead only once, a half minute before the intermission.

Hall's exhibition labels him as one of the outstanding B men in the state. North Canton stepped into a 5-1 lead during the first three minutes of the game as Don Hinerman and Hall hit two hoops. Hall made it 7-2 before Bobby Hum clicked on a foul and Bill Newell hit one from far out.

The powerful Vikings—boasting three men in the first five over the six foot mark—continued to dominate the nip and tuck battle, 9-17, at the quarter's close.

Columbiana made a gradual approach in the second frame, despite an eight point advantage the Vikings piled up, 15-7, during the opening two minutes.

Clever Lee Thomas led the way, sinking two long ones and a foul to make it 18-16 in Canton's favor with less than two minutes remaining before the half.

Don Esenwein still inexperienced but an asset to the Clippers, connected from underneath to tie it up, 18-18, and Rich Berryman put the Columbian club to the front for the only time with a foul shot a second later. Hinerman came through on a foul to give North Canton an even break at the half, 19-19.

Salem Mentor Avoids Trip To New Concord Region By Luck of Draw

Salem's Quakers will meet Akron North's Vikings at 9:15 and Warren's Presidents will take on Cleveland's Lakewood at 8 p. m. Friday in the semi-finals of the Youngstown regional tournament at South field house.

This was decided by drawings held yesterday at the YMCA in Youngstown at a luncheon meeting of Ohio High School Athletic association district board members, coaches of the eight A and B schools involved and representatives of press and radio.

Tournament Manager David Williams presided at the affair, which saw Akron St. Vincent's coach, Eddie Wentz, draw the number which sent his Class A team to the New Concord regional.

"B" At Youngstown

In the B semi-finals, to be played at 8 and 9:15 p. m. Friday, North Canton will meet undefeated Waynesburg and unbeaten Adena will engage Akron Ellet. Adena is from the Steubenville tourney and the other three from the Kent tournament.

Williams conducted the drawings for the New Concord assignment between Salem North and St. Vincent before the luncheon.

It was so arranged because an official OHSA ruling says that the team closest to the New Concord tourney site from the Youngstown regional will be automatically assigned there.

It was ascertained, after considerable discussion, that Salem and Akron were almost exactly the same distance from New Concord. Hence the draw.

The Class A winners on Friday will meet in the 9:15 p. m. Saturday battle to determine which team will represent this region in the four-team state finals at Toledo on the following Friday and Saturday. The Class B winners Thursday will meet at 8 p. m. Saturday and the winner of that game advances to the Class B four-team finals at Springfield on the following Friday and Saturday.

Only 16 Remain

The state-wide Class A picture now includes only 16 teams and by the close of this week the field will be narrowed to four entries.

Williams announced yesterday that the price of admission for the tournament this week at Youngstown will be a flat $1, to adults and students alike. No reserved seats will be available.

The field house doors will open at 6:30 each evening and only cheerleaders from the schools will be admitted free. No bands will be allowed free entrance, Williams said.

Mike Palermo and Tony Pinowski of Cleveland and Paul Avery of Youngstown will officiate the A and B Youngstown tourneys. Williams announced, Palermo worked the Kent district tourney, Pinowski at Euclid Shore's district and Avery at the Youngstown "B" sectional this year.

New Price Boosts To Mean Improved Clothing Supplies

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Government and industry officials expressed confidence today that price increases authorized for clothing will reach out the hoarding they say has been going on.

OPA's latest price adjustments apply to men's and boys' suits and coats and to a few other scarce apparel items.

The new order permits manufacturers to pass their prices generally on current rather than March, 1942 costs. But it requires them to use markups of three years ago instead of the higher markups of last August which have been in effect.

"This OPA said last night, will mean higher retail prices for garments made by some firms. Others, the agency added, will have to cut prices, particularly if they have turned to more expensive merchandise since 1943.

Louis Rothschild, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, predicted the new regulation will put on the holding for better prices.

There also was criticism of the CPA move. Leo Goodman, secretary of the CIO Cost of Living committee, said the only effect "will be a 20 per cent increase in the cost of men's suits, thus further lining the industry's pockets with gold while keeping returning veterans from securing much-needed clothing."

OPA officials acknowledged that there has been some hoarding of suits pending the price adjustment.

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, March 11.—More than 17,500 war veterans are enrolled in 300 Ohio colleges, Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, reported today.

Dr. Walters, nationally-known statistician of higher education, said that a survey late last month showed 13,708 full-time and 3,800 part-time veteran students attending Ohio schools. Nationally, he disclosed, more than 250,000 ex-GIs were in class full-time, while another 30,000 were enrolled on part-time basis.

Ohio State university, with 2,950, led colleges of the state in full-time enrollments. The University of Cincinnati was second with 1,900, followed by Western Reserve with 1,571; Toledo university, 1,200, and Ohio University, 1,092.

Says Sales Tax Receipts Can Finance Vets' Bonus

COLUMBUS, March 11.—Sales tax revenues are available to finance a $300,000,000 bonus to Ohio veterans of World War II, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson believes.

He estimates such payment can be made without levying new taxes but through the aid of bonds covering a 10-year period with interest of 1½ per cent.

Ferguson figured that it would cost the state $34,000,000 the first year with small reductions each following year.

Sales tax income this year will total $75,000,000 of which only $16,000,000 is earmarked for local governments, Ferguson said.

Wildlife Experts Report Alligators Facing Hard Times

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—These are tough times for alligators—they don't grow up like they used to.

Did you know that 14- and 15-foot alligators once were as common in Florida as chickens of commerce are now? Or what the outlook is for the modern alligator when he grows up?

A measly 12-footer at best, says the fish and wildlife service gloomily, without bothering to explain why.

Furthermore, the alligator soon may become extinct.

First came the hunters. Within 14 years (1880 to 1894) they killed more than 2,000,000 alligators in Florida alone.

Then came the tourists.

It seems that alligators do a good job in the production line (an alligator sometimes lays as many as 60 eggs), but tourists cart many of the youngsters away to the north.

There, says the F. & W. report, the alligators "endure a slow death by starvation."

"The American species," they proclaim, "is particularly inoffensive."

But then when you're ready to cuddle the first American species you meet, the F. & W. people spill everything by reminding that if you happened to tumble in where an alligator was napping, you might get a leg or two gnawed off at that.
